Federal marshals forced entry into the US African Development Foundation and escorted Musk staffers inside, after agency employees resisted their entry. Once inside, they changed the federal agency's locks. Musk staffers were seen plugging in an external hard drive and going through everything.

This appears to be accurate, however there seems to be some question as to whether these were actual US Marshals or Musk's unofficially appointed fascist goon squad. Regardless, will federal employees be forced to fight a war in their offices?
